Dr. Raghubansh Sinha

The Prime Minister underlined India's vision for an enhanced multilateral cooperation with the 10-member ASEAN grouping while calling for an open and inclusive Indo-Pacific region during the 13th East Asia Summit. CAREER IN CAREER COUNSELLING

Shree Prakash Sharma

"He knew more of my intended career than I knew myself. I should be well enough educated for my destiny if I could "hold my own" with average young man in prosperous circumstances."

- Charles Dickens, Great Expectations

All of us need a person, highly qualified and professionally trained, to make us realize what natural talent we have been born with and then guide us accordingly what job we can best perform? Yes, of course. And he is none other than a career counselor who helps candidates to go for a particular academic course to fulfill their dream career.

In fact, a career counselor is a professional, well-qualified and emotionally sensitive human being, who is trained to guide the aspirants what jobs they have been best suited for. A career counselor's job is to know the talent and various traits and guide the candidates to choose suitable career accordingly.

Often what happens is that we commit mistakes making career decisions because we assess ourselves purely on the basis of unrealistic parameters. We design our career trajectory on the basis of what we dream and not on what we deserve. Moreover, we also get unduly impressed with the phony attraction of the various career options surrounding us. Sometimes, we also buckle under the parental pressure and get swayed by the social showing. In this awkward situation, a candidate ends up choosing a career for which he is not at all suitable and nor mentally inclined. It is not a matter of any surprise that this sort of mistakes in choosing the unsuitable career option occurs because of the inadequate knowledge, emotional immaturity, peer pressure and high-demanding - parental - ambition. In fact, this is a very pernicious situation. Basically, our perception and psychology does not let us identify the individual differences which are so naturally found in each child.

The days of the customary job opportunities like those of a doctor and engineer are on the gradual decline. In the post-reformed-induced-information technology age of the 21st century where the whole world has turned out to be a global village, it is really very soothing feeling that now there is no dearth of job opportunities across the countries in the world. As per the socio-behavioural and genetic differences in ability, personality, attitude, bent of mind and interests, each person can find himself fit for a score of job opportunities which have unfolded before the present generation. Therefore, the basic role of a career counselor is extending much-needed assistance and professional guidance to the people to help them choose the career as per their unique curricular and extra-curricular interests, behavioural pattern and personality traits.

However, in the wake of increasing demand for such type of counselors, career counseling course has also been incorporated in syllabus and there is provision of appointment of a career counselor in each school and college. A career counselor is responsible for providing the guidance to the students for their balanced physical, mental, psychic and psychological development so that they may move ahead towards the right career path at right time with right attitude

INDIA-JAPAN RELATIONS

SHARED DESTINY, COMMON CHALLENGES

Dr. Raghubansh Sinha

Prime Minister Mr. Narendra Modi's 12th meeting since 2014 with his Japanese counterpart Mr. Shinzo Abe is a reflection of the growing congruity in world view of India and Japan and mutually beneficial bilateral relations as they seek to combine their efforts to tackle emerging economic and security challenges. Mr. Modi's October 28-29 Japan visit reflects the transformed bilateral relations in the light of dynamic geo-strategic global order.

TRANSFORMED RELATIONS

India's relations with Japan has come a long way. The bilateral goodwill was always there. But lack of complementarity --as India remained a one way recipient of economic aid -- prevented the relationship from flowering into a key pillar of India's foreign policy. The beginning of the 21st century witnessed a dramatic transformation in ties which was upgraded to a 'Special Strategic and Global Partnership' during Prime Minister Mr. Modi's visit to Japan in 2014 for the 9th Annual Summit Meeting with his Japanese counterpart Abe.

A landmark bilateral civil nuclear agreement in November 2016 opened the door for collaboration and export of atomic reactor technology as well as provide finance for power plants in India. It reflected a new level of mutual confidence and strategic partnership in the cause of clean energy, economic development and a peaceful and secure world. Above all, the deal was indicative of support and trust for India as Japan remains very sensitive to proliferation of nuclear technology, being the only country to have faced atomic weapon attack by the USA. Since then, Japan has been an important supporter of India's bid for membership in the crucial 48-member Nuclear Suppliers Group, which facilitates trade in nuclear technology around the world.

Based on the solid foundation of civilisational and centuries-old cultural links, India and Japan now seek to provide economic and political rationale to their deepening geo-strategic relations. The fact is that there are growing number of areas of convergence, commonality and common vision between the two Asian powers. Therefore, after years of hedging, they seek to strengthen their multi-faceted partnership, ranging from digital to cyberspace, health to defence, from oceans to space and agriculture to food processing. From reforming the United Nations Security Council to make it more relevant to the present world to keeping the

The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi meeting the Prime Minister of Japan, Mr. Shinzo Abe, at Yamanashi, Japan on October 28, 2018.

Indo-Pacific 'free and open', they have agreed to collaborate their efforts. Underlining the importance of ASEAN, India and Japan voiced their support for peaceful resolution of disputes in accordance with the universally recognised principles of international law. They have opposed "predatory" "chequebook diplomacy" that threatens to push developing nations into debt trap in the name of undertaking infrastructure projects in Asia and Africa.

Over the last one decade, Japan has become one of the "most trusted partners" in India's economic and technological modernizations, and one of the top investors in India. Cumulatively, since 2000 Japanese investments in India have been around US $ 26 billion, making the East Asian country the third largest major investor in 2017. Nearly 1,500 Japanese companies are registered in India.

India values Japan's global leadership in innovation, technologies and best practices. At the fag end of the second decade of the 21st century, India aims to move rapidly towards "Industry 4.0" so that it is not left behind in technological inventions in the field of Artificial Intelligence (AI), Internet of Things (IoT), 3D printing, robotics and biotechnology. With the Indian government making efforts to improve the "ease of doing business", Japan hopes to use the "low cost manufacturing" in India for its business. "The partnership between our software and your hardware sectors can do miracles," Modi told Japanese investors in Tokyo.

PERSONAL CHEMISTRY

Last month's Japan visit was Indian Prime Minister's third to Tokyo to attend the landmark 13th bilateral annual summit, which India holds only with Japan and Russia. Mr. Modi had wide-ranging talks with Japanese counterpart Abe and interacted with business leaders and captains of industry from both countries and members of the Indian community. Mr. Modi's personal chemistry with Abe was clearly visible when he was hosted by the Japanese leader for a private dinner at his holiday home in Yamanashi prefecture in southwest Tokyo, close to the iconic Mount Fuji. In December 2015, he had hosted his Japanese counterpart in the ancient city of Varanasi. Mr. Abe witnessing the Ganga Aarti ritual at Dashashwamedh Ghat, amid chanting of shlokas and sound of conch shells in the Prime Minister's parliamentary constituency.

SHARED DESTINY

The Tokyo summit gave an opportunity to the two leaders to provide clarity to their vision and efforts to concretise it. The Indian Prime Minister described the bilateral relations "as deep and wide as the Indian and Pacific Oceans," and based on "shared commitment to democratic values and freedom and the rule of law." "Without the cooperation between India and Japan, the 21st century cannot be an Asian century," Mr. Modi underlined during the summit.

Leveraging Japanese capabilities for India's development initiatives is the key rationale that drives the bilateral relations. India's economic diplomacy was in full display during the summit as it sought to leverage Japan as a development aid partner for its economic modernisation and flagship development programmes such as Skill India, Make in India, and Digital India, as also the Mumbai-Ahmedabad high-speed rail project and Dedicated Freight Corridors.

Building upon Japanese development aid and cooperation in the Indo-Pacific region were among key focus areas. Agreements were signed on cooperation between the naval forces of the two countries, healthcare, digital and new technologies, and food processing. Japanese investors committed new $2.5 billion investments that is expected to help create some 30,000 jobs.

The two sides signed seven loan agreements totalling 316.48 billion yen which will be utilised for the Mumbai-Ahmedabad high speed rail, project for renovation and modernisation of Umiam-Umtru Stage-III hydroelectric power station in Meghalaya, the third phase of the Delhi Mass Rapid Transport System Project, road network connectivity improvement project in northeastern India, project for the construction of Turga pumped storage in West Bengal, project for the construction of Chennai Peripheral Ring Road and project for sustainable catchment forest management in Tripura.

Reflecting the depth of economic relationship, India and Japan entered into a $75-billion bilateral currency swap agreement to boost stability in foreign exchange and help strengthen confidence in the Indian capital market. It will allow India to tap foreign capital for developmental needs as and when needed.

India firmly believes that ASEAN regional bloc has to play a central role in the Indo-Pacific region. Japan is the cornerstone of India's Act East Policy and connectivity projects in the Northeast. Japan's role in development work in the Northeast is also expected to boost connectivity between the member-states of Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (Bimstec) sub-regional grouping. Made up of seven countries lying in the littoral and adjacent areas of the Bay of Bengal -- Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Myanmar, Nepal, Sri Lanka and Thailand, Bimstec allows India to engage more with the extended neighbourhood in Southeast Asia under India's Neighbourhood First Policy via northeastern India.

India remains an important partner for Japan in the proposed Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP), which seeks to carve out a free trade agreement between the 10 Asean member states and the six states with which this regional bloc has existing free trade agreements - Australia, China, India, Japan, South Korea and New Zealand.

TAMING THE DRAGON

With China seeking to increase its influence in the Indo-Pacific region and belligerence in the South China Sea, Mr. Modi and Mr. Abe sketched out their common vision for the regions. They underlined the need for "rules-based order that respects sovereignty and territorial integrity of nations, ensures freedom of navigation and overflight as well as unimpeded lawful commerce, and seeks peaceful resolution of disputes with full respect for legal and diplomatic processes in accordance with the universally recognised principles of international law, including those reflected in the UNCLOS (UN Convention for the Law of the Sea), without resorting to threat or use of force."

TRILATERAL COOPERATION

With China in mind, India and Japan sought to concretise a plan to provide an alternative to the communist country's "predatory" chequebook diplomacy". Amid efforts by China to expand its influence around the world, particularly in India's troubled neighbourhood, Japan and India agreed to collaborate in Indo-Pacific in Asia and in Africa on capacity building and on infrastructure projects in a trilateral format -- India, Japan plus one. Among the key agreements, they committed to consultations with host governments to foster tangible cooperation focusing on development of connectivity and other infrastructure in the Indo-Pacific. "This synergy is embodied in collaborative projects between India and Japan in the Indo-Pacific region, including in Sri Lanka, Myanmar and Bangladesh as well as in Africa," said the India - Japan Vision Statement released after the summit. India, Japan plus one format reflects the high level and strength of the bilateral economic engagement.

India and Japan hope that the trilateral format will help check China's growing influence in the region through Chinese President Xi Jinping's pet Belt and Road Initiative (BRI) project. India has refused to join the Chinese BRI on the grounds that the project has failed to respect the territorial integrity and sovereignty of other countries and has put participating nations in debt traps with loan contracts shrouded in mystery. China has been dismissive about India's objection to China Pakistan Economic Corridor (CPEC) of Bengal -- Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, Myanmar, Nepal, Sri Lanka and Thailand, Bimstec is the new springboard for India's engagement with the extended neighbourhood in Southeast Asia under its Neighbourhood First Policy via northeastern India.

SECRETARY

PM MODI'S ...

Using centuries-old civilisational linkages to realise the inherent immense economic potential in the relationship, India has now added strategic importance to ties with Asean and other countries of the region. Relations with Asean have grown since India became its Sectoral-level partner in 1992, an event which coincided with India's economic reform process.

In the past two decades, India-Asean relationship has become the foundation of India's Act East Policy. Based on India's search for economic space following the dramatic transformation in world political and geo-strategic scenario in early 1990s -after the collapse of Soviet Union -India's 'Look East Policy' has today matured into a dynamic and action-oriented 'Act East Policy'.

Over the last decade, India has taken several policy initiatives to deepen its economic engagement with Asean-centric processes such as East Asia Summit, BIMSTEC, Indian-Ocean Rim Association and Mekong-Ganga Cooperation at the sub-regional level.

The deepening relationship was symbolized in the year-long celebration to mark Asean-India 25 years of dialogue partnership, 15 years of summit level interaction and five years of strategic partnership. It culminated with all 10 ASEAN leaders attending the 69th Republic Day Parade in an unprecedented gesture.

EAST ASIA SUMMIT

India's participation in the East Asia Summit is a natural corollary of its growing multi-faceted engagement with Asean and common desire for enhancing economic and security cooperation in East Asia. Prime Minister Modi attended the 13th East Asia Summit, an important forum in the Indo-Pacific region comprising the 10 Asean member states -- Brunei, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Myanmar, Singapore, Thailand, the Philippines and Vietnam - and its eight dialogue partners -- India, China, Japan, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand, the US and Russia.

Earlier this year in June, Prime Minister Mr. Modi had forcefully outlined India's vision of the Indo-Pacific during his speech at the Shangri-La Dialogue in Singapore. He used the East Asia Summit in Singapore to further build upon the theme. He stressed on the centrality of Asean's role for peace and prosperity in the Indo-Pacific region, which extends from the eastern coast of Africa to the eastern coast of Japan.

He underlined the need for rules-based order that respects sovereignty and territorial integrity of nations, ensures freedom of navigation and overflight as well as unimpeded lawful commerce, and seeks peaceful resolution of disputes with full respect for legal and diplomatic processes in accordance with the universally recognised principles of international law, without resorting to threat or use of force.

Growing tension in South East Asia as a result of competing territorial claims to islands in the South China Sea has sparked concern that it could lead to unintended military conflict. Several experts predict an escalation in tension especially after China has aggressively undertaken infrastructure construction and military bases on several disputed islets and reefs in South China Sea.

China is embroiled in disputes over the Scarborough Shoal with the Philippines, and over the Spratly islands with Brunei, Malaysia, Taiwan and Vietnam. Conveniently, China now calls for framing of a 'code of conduct' in a bid to play down the simmering differences with its neighbours.

QUAD MEETING

Concern over China's unilateralism and aggressive behavior is shared by several nations in the region and beyond. In the past several months, China's neighbours and members of Quadrilateral Security Dialogue or Quad - comprising India, the US, Japan, and Australia, have expressed concern over China's "predatory" chequebook diplomacy" which threatens to push nations into debt-trap and upset geo-strategic power balance around the world in the name of creating infrastructure projects.

First mooted by Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe in 2007, the idea of the grouping of the four "like-minded" democracies was put on the back-burner after protests by China which sees Quad as a partnership aimed at stifling the communist nations growth and influence.

Officials of the Quad held consultations in Singapore on the sideline of the East Asia Summit. Though India has been reluctant to highlight the military cooperation, other members of the Quad, particularly US and Japan, have been upfront about its agenda to prevent China dominating Indo-Pacific region through use of force.

Reports have suggested that the four nation partnership discussed regional and global issues of common interest, including the situation in Sri Lanka and the Maldives. Though peaceful political transition seems imminent in Maldives when President-elect Ibrahim Mohamed Solih is sworn in on November 17, India has been concerned with signs of instability in both these South Asian neighbours, where China has increased its influence in the last decade.

Media reports suggested that the discussions focused on cooperation in areas such as "connectivity, sustainable development, counter-terrorism, non-proliferation and maritime and cyber security, with a view to promoting peace, stability and prosperity in an increasingly inter-connected Indo-Pacific region that the four countries share with each other and with other partners".

RCEP AGREEMENT

Failure to make progress in negotiations in the services-sector has been a big disappointment for India. Underlining the importance of "comprehensive, balanced and mutually beneficial" economic engagement, Prime Minister Mr. Modi highlighted the need for an early conclusion of RCEP agreement.

While acknowledging the progress made in negotiations on market access for goods, India underlined the need for similar results in the services-sector which constitute more than 50 per cent of the GDP of most of the RCEP countries, and is likely to play a key role in future global economic activities.

Unable to conclude the pact in Singapore, negotiators have now put a 2019 deadline for the RCEP, which is a proposed free-trade agreement between Asean and six Asia-Pacific states with which the regional bloc has existing Free Trade Agreements (FTAs) -- namely China, India, Japan, South Korea, Australia and New Zealand,

The RCEP, which is being negotiated since 2012, seeks to bring almost half of the world's population, 40 per cent of world trade and more than a third of global GDP under the umbrella of a single trade zone.

Thailand, which takes over the presidency of Asean from Singapore, faces a big challenge of concluding the RCEP negotiations.

MODI MEETS PENCE

India's bilateral relations with the US were in focus when Prime Minister Mr. Modi and US Vice-President Pence met on the sidelines of the East Asia Summit. India and the US discussed their roles in Indo-Pacific region and cooperation in defence and trade sectors, amid simmering differences over New Delhi's oil import from Tehran and purchase of S-400 Triumf missile system from Russia.

The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi presenting the awards to the winning team of India-Singapore Hackathon 2018, in Singapore on November 15, 2018.

Expanding bilateral trade and energy cooperation also came up as India plans to increase oil and gas import from the US which is expected "to be valued about $4 billion this year".

Facing common threat of terrorism, the two leaders expressed concern over the mainstreaming of people involved in 2008 Mumbai terror attacks, a reference to Pakistani mastermind Hafiz Saeed's party contesting the general elections in Pakistan in July.

The Trump administration has repeatedly hauled up Pakistan for not doing enough to combat terrorism both in its country and the neighborhood. "The United States has foolishly given Pakistan more than 33 billion dollars in aid over the last 15 years, and they have given us nothing but lies and deceit, thinking of our leaders as fools. They give safe haven to the terrorists we hunt in Afghanistan, with little help. No more!" Trump had written in his first tweet of 2018.

FINTECH FESTIVAL

The Prime Minister showcased India as one of the top nations in fintech adoption. Highlighting the importance of cybersecurity for safe and secure online transactions at the Singapore Fintech Festival, Modi launched APIX, or API Exchange, a global platform to connect fintech firms and financial institutions, beginning with Asean and Indian banks and fintech companies.

"To begin with financial inclusion has become a reality for 1.3 billion Indians. We have generated more than 1.2 billion biometric identities -- called Aadhaar or foundation -- in just a few years," Mr. Modi said at the world's largest financial technology festival, which was launched in 2016. India set up a pavilion with the highest number of companies at the exhibition.

HACKATHON

Modi attended the "Grande Finale" of the first-ever India-Singapore Hackathon, a platform expected to boost technology, innovation and youth power. The Indian leader presented awards to the six winnings teams-- three each from India and Singapore. Teams from Indian Institute of Technology Kharagpur (IIT Kharagpur), National Institute of Technology, Tiruchirappalli (NIT Trichy) and MIT College of Engineering, Pune, were the Indian winners.

Nanyang Technological University (NTU) and the Singapore University of Technology and Design (SUTD) were among the winning teams from Singapore.

and much-wanted success with ease and élan.

FUNCTIONS OF A CAREER COUNSELOR

1. Helps individuals develop the self-awareness which will further help them to prepare for the better development of interests and capabilities.
2. Prepares the children for taking career decisions as per their choice, interest, ambition, personality trait and inclination of mind.
3. Makes students aware of the various job opportunities and career options to best suit their interests and capabilities.
4. Assists the aspirants with the professional guidance of braving the challenges born out of changes in career and grooming them for the professional perfection.

Skills Required for a Career Counselor

The job of a career counselor is not easier than what the people do understand. It is more the job of sensitively understanding the human behaviour and psychology than the academic excellence. That is why a career counselor must be a good human being to sympathetically understand the natural capabilities and inherent disability of the people. Besides, a career counselor must-

- ♦ possess thorough knowledge of current job trends and availability of career opportunities. He must also have very perfect knowledge of various institutions, courses offered by them, courses' fees, provision of scholarships and financial assistance programmes.

- ♦ have updated information of the changes in the areas of education, emerging career opportunities in the country and abroad as well and scope in the years to come.

- ♦ possess very good patience listening skills.
- ♦ be a man of immaculate character, integrity and commitment.
- ♦ have immense patience and better understanding of human behaviour and psychology.
- ♦ have perfect knowledge of the job policies and socio-political condition of the various countries across the globe.
- ♦ have very sound analytical power, communication efficiency and sensitivity.
- ♦ have motivational power.
- ♦ possess the leadership qualities to lead and inspire the candidates to the right path of career choice and job opportunities.

EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS

Majority of the career counselors pursue this profession with the background of psychology as the main subject. It is because of the fact that the subject of psychology provides the much-needed insight and understanding in the human behaviour and natural human instincts of the people and thereby a career counselor can better understand their problems and preference. However, there is no special course as like that of career counseling but all the guidance and counseling courses have career counseling as the conspicuous part. Any candidate with post graduation degree in any subject is eligible for applying for a diploma in counseling. Though it is quite another fact that an array of universities and institutes prefer Master's degree with psychology as the background. Teachers with a few years experience are also eligible for taking up the course of career guidance and counseling.

REMUNERATION

In so far as the pay package of a career counselor is concerned what comes as a bizarre fact is that there is wide disparity in this domain of human behaviour and psychology. Many of reputed and well-established organizations and educational institutes provide handsome package while in the rest of the sectors, a career counselor can get the monthly salary the range of which falls between Rs 20,000 to Rs, 30,000. However, majority of the schools and colleges have the regular posts of career counselors which pay them along the line of formal pay scales with all the allowances permissible time to time. But the career counselors who work as freelancer or as a part time they earn even more than this. Many of the career management and employment agencies too recruit career counselors and offer them a lucrative pay packages.

JOB PROSPECTS

The job prospects of a professional career counselor end only with the proverbial statement of what we may call 'sky is only the limit.' This fact is truer, especially in the global world of today where the job opportunities are even more increasing every day. However; following are the main areas where a career counselor is most sought after-

1. Majority of the career counselors get the jobs in schools, colleges and various other educational institutes. In the wake of the fast rising stress and consistent rise in the cases of suicides of students and adolescents across the country all the educational and coaching institutes have career counselor.
2. A career counselor can also work at a career information centre. He can also work at a career education programme.
3. A career counselor also works as a professional for providing help to the students for the preparation of job interviews.
4. Helping the candidates in the development of skills is also considered as one of the important jobs of a career counselor. He also helps writing an immaculate professional resume. Assisting the candidates with the key guidelines for group discussion or interview is also considered as one of the jobs of a career counselor.
5. Advising the students on choosing the right and suitable subjects at school and college levels. They also advise the students about the requirement of various documents for a host of admission and entrance examinations.

6. A career counselor also guides a candidate about an array of means to finance the course fees.

7. A career counselor also works with the placement agencies and counsels the candidates about the career development.

8. With the globalization of the world economy, the overseas job opportunities and the responsibilities of a career counselor have even more increased. A career counselor advises the students on the job opportunities available in various segments across the countries in the world.

The career of a career counselor is not an easy job because it involves moral responsibilities of grooming the career and making the future of people so promising and bright. Besides, one needs to be meticulously updated. He must have knowledge of various types of developments taking place in various job markets at his fingertips. Besides, he must also be a good psychologist who can understand both the brain and heart of people so perfectly. Long and odd hours of working and dealing lovingly and sympathetically with a variety of people with a host of traits and attitudes is not easy to cope with. But providing much-needed guide to the aspirants to reach out to the pinnacle of their achievements and helping them realize their much-coveted dreams is simply the matter of the satisfaction which the job-holders do always feel pinch of.

project running through Pakistan-occupied Kashmir. Now it has even sought to justify the CPEC by planning a bus service from Lahore to Kashgar in its north-western Xinjiang province through the disputed territory.

SECURITY CHALLENGES

Defence and security cooperation is another area of bilateral agreement. In what could be seen as remarks hinting at China, India and Japan called for a "free and open" and prosperous Indo-Pacific and agreed to institute Foreign and Defence Ministerial 2+2 Dialogue in addition to existing mechanisms, including the Annual Defence Ministerial Dialogue, Defence Policy Dialogue, the National Security Advisers' Dialogue, Staff-level Dialogue of each service.

India institutionalised a similar 2+2 Ministerial Dialogue with the US in September in which External Affairs Minister Smt. Sushma Swaraj, Defence Minister Smt. Nirmala Sitharaman, US Secretary of State Mr. Mike Pompeo and Defence Secretary James Mr. Mattis participated. Giving shape to their security cooperation, India and Japan along with the US and Australia revived the quadrilateral coalition in 2017. The Quad is seen as a move to counter China's aggressive behaviour in the Indo-Pacific area.

In a bid to enhance the strategic depth of bilateral security and defence cooperation, the two countries also agreed to strengthen naval cooperation. India and Japan, along with the US, regularly hold the Malabar naval exercise. According to the Vision Statement, they now seek to step up joint exercise between each of the three defence services of the two countries and the commencement of negotiations on the Acquisition and Cross-Servicing Agreement (ACSA), a military logistics pact that will enhance strategic depth and defence cooperation. ACSA will allow Japan to refuel and resupply its ships at Indian naval bases on the Andaman and Nicobar islands near the Malacca Straits, a maritime choke point through which seaborne trade passes to ports in China and Japan.

TERROR THREAT

Japan and India also

The Prime Minister, Shri Narendra Modi and the Prime Minister of Japan, Mr. Shinzo Abe visiting the FANUC Corporation, at Yamanashi, Japan on October 28, 2018.

showcased their determination to face the challenges of terrorism together. They agreed to "strengthening cooperation against terrorist threats from groups including Al Qaeda, ISIS (Islamic State), Jaish-e-Mohammad, Lakshar-e-Tayyiba, and their affiliates". They called upon Pakistan to bring to justice the perpetrators of terrorist attacks, including those of November 2008 in Mumbai and January 2016 in Pathankot.

FUTURE PROSPECT

India is the largest democracy in Asia and Japan the most prosperous. With bilateral ties singularly free of any kind of dispute -ideological, cultural or territorial-there is immense goodwill in both the nations to make India-Japan relations one of the key pillars of their foreign and security policy in the coming decades. The fact is bilateral economic relations have vast potential for growth, given the complementarities that exist between the two Asian economies.

Japan's interest in India is on the upswing due to factors ranging from large and growing market and its resources, especially the human resources, and its ability to play a crucial role in facing security challenges in the Indo-Pacific region.
