GENDER EQUALITY FOR A BETTER INDIA

Shreya Bhattacharya

March 8 marks the International Women's day, a day to celebrate the social, economic, cultural and political achievements of women, a day to evaluate the status of women in the society, and also a day to call for accelerating gender equality. The theme for this year is "Think equal, build smart, innovate for change". It focuses on innovative ways in which we can advance gender equality and the empowerment of women, particularly in the areas of social protection systems, access to public services and sustainable infrastructure. Gender Equality has become one of the most central concerns of the 21st century. This article will look into the issue of gender equality and women empowerment and their various aspects in the present scenario.

Gender

Gender refers to socially constructed identities, and roles for women and men. They are not just personal identities; rather these are social identities. They arise from our relationships to other people, and depend upon social interaction and social recognition. It is learnt from birth through childhood socialisation. One example of socially constructed differences is, women's role in most societies has traditionally been to take care of the household, and the children, whereas the role of men has been to work outside home, be the bread-earner for his family, and thus, becoming head of the family. Gender constructions are, however, not static, but dynamic and fluid; they vary from culture to culture, and also keep changing over time. We learn what is expected of our gender from what our parents teach us, as well as what we pick up at school, through religious or cultural teachings, in the media, and various other social institutions. The political, social, economic, cultural, religious and other factors create hierarchical relationships between women and men in a society. Historically, the distribution of resources, power and rights has been in favor of men, while disadvantaging women. They have been excluded from the decision making process. From the beginning of time, they have been denied even such basic rights as access to literacy and property.

Glaring Inequalities

Inequality on the basis of gender constitutes one of the history's most persistent and widespread forms of injustice. Women and girls continue to suffer discrimination and violence in every part of the world. This inequality exists in every sector. In South Asia, only 74 girls were enrolled in primary school for every 100 boys in 1990. However, by 2012, the enrolment ratios were the same. Instead of attending class, millions of girls and women around the world spend 200 million hours each day fetching water that is often dirty and dangerous to their health. In 155 countries, at least one law exists which impedes women's economic opportunities. The gender pay gap costs global economy $160 trillion. Only 23.7% of all national parliamentarians are women. One in three women experience some form of physical or sexual violence in their lifetimes. The International Labour Organization (ILO) estimates that there are 20.9 million victims of human trafficking globally; 55% of whom are women and girls.

As per the Gender Gap Report, 2018 published by World Economic Forum, when it comes to political and economic leadership by women, the world still has a long way to go. Across the 149 countries assessed, there were only 17 that had women as heads of state, while, on average, just 18% of ministers and 24% of parliamentarians globally were women. Similarly, women held just 34% of managerial positions across the countries where data was available, and less than 7% in the four worst-performing countries (Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Yemen and Pakistan).

CAREER IN ACTUARIAL SCIENCE

Usha Albuquerque & Nidhi Prasad

Actuaries are experts in evaluating the likelihood of future events using numbers, not crystal balls.

If you enjoy Playing with numbers and Analyzing data, interpreting statistics and you are ambitious, then a career in Actuarial Science might be just what you are looking for. A choice that promises a successful career and a handsome salary.

Actuarial science is the discipline that applies mathematical and statistical methods to assess risk in insurance, finance and other industries and professions. Actuarial Science as a field is all about analysis, computation, logic and data. From designing insurance policies to solving business problems, Actuaries are in demand.

A course in actuarial sciences equips you to scientifically assess risk in various fields, but mainly in insurance, business and finance. Actuaries are an important component of risk-assessment as well as risk-management for any organization. They use various statistical, mathematical and computational methodologies to give their assessment. Some of the job responsibilities of this job profile in life and general insurance business include designing and pricing of policies, monitoring the funds, recommending fair rate of bonus where applicable, insurance risks like legal liability, loss of profit, etc

Actuaries are professionals trained in this discipline. An actuary is a business professional who analyzes the financial consequences of risk. Actuaries use mathematics, statistics, and financial theory to study uncertain future events, especially those of concern to insurance and pension programs. Actuarial science is one of highly paid profession.

What Actuarial Scientist Do?

If you have a car, you would have car insurance. How old are you? How old is your car? With every successive year, as the car ages, the value of the car also goes down. How does the rising price of petrol affect the usage of the car? What is the popularity with thieves, cost to repair etc. All these and more factors are considered by an Actuary.

Actuaries analyze different types of data to calculate and manage risk. They, thus, help companies form efficient policies by protecting themselves from uncertain and undesirable future events. Actuaries are required in any field where risk is involved, including banking, insurance, healthcare, and even non-financial areas.

Their ability to analyze data to understand risk makes them especially useful in the field of Insurance. Actuaries are the masterminds behind insurance policies. They analyze facts, figures, and trends to formulate various insurance programs.

The work responsibilities of Actuaries include the following:

- Designing financial policies and monitoring if there are enough funds in the company.
- Determining the rate of interest to be given to customers for insurance policies.
- Keeping a check on insurance risks to minimize losses.

- Predicting the occurrence of various illnesses such as heart disease, cancer, etc., among different groups, to incorporate these risks when designing insurance policies.
- Assessing risk for the financial planning of the company.

An actuary in India works in the following fields:

- Life Insurance
- General Insurance
- Health Insurance
- Reinsurance Companies
- Pension Funds
- Consultants
- Investments
- Government
- Academics
- Risk Management

The role that an actuary can perform in each of these sectors can be quite varied, such as product pricing, financial modelling, valuations, risk management, carrying out peer reviews, designing social security schemes, advise on the premium to be charged etc.

TRAI's NEW TARIFF RULES EMPOWER CONSUMERS TO MAKE RIGHT CHOICE OF THEIR TV CHANNELS

Dr. Sheetal Kapoor

In order to make the broadcasting market more competitive Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI), has issued new tariff plans for cable and DTH operators. The new rules try to empower the consumers to make their own choices regarding TV channels and no operator can force them to watch channels/bouquet of packages whose content they don't like. In this backdrop TRAI's new framework came into effect from 29th December 2018 but the deadline was again extended to 31st January 2019, in order to provide sufficient time to subscribers to make channel selection. Further in a Press Release dated 12th February the Authority extended the time limit for the subscribers who have not exercised their option up to 31st March 2019. It is believed that if consumer's exercise their option wisely and select their channels on the basis of quality of content they will get value for money and their existing bill on TV watching would also come down.

Chamberlin in his book on "The Theory of Monopolistic Competition" has also written about markets where there are large number of players selling differentiated products, consumer welfare is maximum. Although in the history of broadcasting it is the first time that the Indian consumer has been given the freedom to watch TV channels which they like and pay accordingly, it is believed that it would be a win-win situation for both sellers and consumers.

There are around 100 million cable service TV homes and 67 million DTH TV homes as reported on 12th February 2019, out of which around 65 per cent of the subscribers of the cable services and 35 per cent of the DTH subscribers have exercised their channel choices. Many subscribers approached TRAI that they were facing difficulties in selecting channels as the system of selecting channels has been introduced for the first time in the country.

TRAI in its statement reported that in some cases, local cable operators (LCOs) have not been able to reach out to subscribers to create awareness among them and collect the options. Many subscribers reported that they were not made aware about this switch over by their operators and they did not have IT facility or are not comfortable in using IT system to exercise their options. A few cases have been reported recently where pay channels of the subscribers who have not exercised the options have been deactivated. Such incidences are causing hardship to the subscribers.

TRAI has requested all the DPOs to create a 'Best Fit Plan' for their subscribers who have not exercised their options yet and has extended the time upto Mar 31st 2019. The plan shall be designed based on consumers' usage pattern, language spoken and popularity of channels. While designing the plan, DPOs should ensure that payout per month generally does not exceed the payout per month of existing tariff plan of the subscriber.

TRAI in a press release on January 10 stated that customers have complete freedom to choose the 100 free channels (SD resolution), which would be offered in the base pack of Rs 130 (exclusive of taxes). The chosen channels could be in a-la-carte, Free to Air channels, or Pay channels or bouquet of pay channels or any combination thereof. Consumer is open to make choices amongst them. After the TRAI order, all broadcasters like Sony, Zee, Star, Discovery, Sun, Turner and Viacom have declared prices of their individual pay channels as well as those of bouquets. Thus, a major change now is that the customers have the right to choose between a-la carte and bouquet TV channels. TRAI has further clarified that the Network Capacity Fee for second television/additional television in same home or location is not mandatory. The operators are free to offer discount or waiver the entire fee but the same discount would be the same for a particular target area with regard to Network capacity Fee (NCW) on second/additional TV connections at home.

The new framework also allows the consumers to change their plans if they feel that a particular package/plan is not working. Customised packages and a-la-carte are some new things which would add to customer's experience. TRAI has even elucidated that there would be no 'lock-in period' for the subscribers till March 31, 2019 who have been migrated to 'Best Fit Plan' by the operators. Thus, the operators cannot force subscribers to continue with the Best Fit plan, if they choose their own customised plan. However, this is a beginning and the situation may evolve with prices charged by broadcasters and operators declining depending on market forces, viewership and competitive intensity and the consumers would be benefitted by getting fair price.

How to become an Actuary? What you need to do to pursue a career in this field?*Here are the steps to become an Actuary in India:

The Institute of Actuaries of India (IAI) regulates the education & training of actuaries in India. When a student becomes a member of IAI by clearing the ACET exam Following are the eligibility criteria to become an actuary:

1. Take up Commerce with Maths or PCM after class 10th. - Actuarial Science as a field is all about data, numbers and statistics. Thus, it is very important to have a strong hold on Mathematics and Statistics to make a successful career in it. Commerce with Mathematics or Science with Mathematics (PCM) are recommended streams
2. Pursue your graduation in Maths, Statistics or B.Com or Actuarial Science or Those who have completed their post graduation in these subjects are also eligible for admission. Engineers in any discipline and those who have completed CA/CS/CWA/ MBA (Finance)/MCA are also eligible to get admission to a course in Actuarial Science. There is no specific eligibility requirement for graduation, but B.Sc Mathematics and B.Sc Statistics are recommended courses. They will allow you to form a strong base in mathematics, probability concepts, analytical and problem-solving skills, and statistics, which all form the foundations of Actuarial Science.
3. Take the Actuarial Common Entrance Test (ACET)- The first step to becoming a member of the Institute of Actuaries of India (IAI) and becoming a practising Actuary is to clear their entrance exam - Actuarial Common Entrance Test (ACET). You can appear for the entrance just after your class 12th or even if you are a graduate/postgraduate.
4. There are other courses as well, ones that allow you to work in this field directly, including B.Sc. (Actuarial Science) and M.Sc (Actuarial Science). You can start working directly after these courses; however, it is advisable to clear Actuarial Science levels too.
5. Clear Actuarial Science Stages - There are 15 papers in all divided into four stages. One is required to clear all the papers (9 in total) from Core Technical, all 3 papers from Core Application, any 2 (out of 8) from Specialist Technical (ST) and any 1 (out of 6) from Specialist Application. After clearing all the papers in the first two stages, the candidate becomes an Associate and after clearing all the papers in all four series the Associate gets Fellowship status.

6. Since Actuarial Science is a professional course, you are required to clear different examinations/stages to pursue this field. These are written as well as practical exams conducted by the IAI. There are no regular colleges or classes for this course, only examinations that you are required to clear.
7. Once you clear the first two stages, you are termed an Associate with the IAI. On clearing all 4 stages, and acquiring 3 years of experience, you become a Fellow. As a fellow, you can pursue further studies and research in the field.
8. Fully qualified members of professional bodies such as:

- ♦ The Institute of Chartered Accountants of India
- ♦ The Institute of Cost and Works Accountants of India
- ♦ Certified Institute of Financial Analysts of India
- ♦ Fellow of Insurance Institute of India

Exemptions from the ACET Exam

You can be allowed to skip the ACET exam in a few cases.

The Institute of Actuaries of India (IAI) has a mutual agreement with a few international actuarial bodies that allows students who have passed at least 3 subjects from these bodies, to skip the ACET exam altogether. These bodies include The Institute and Faculty of Actuaries (IFoA), UK; Casualty Actuarial Society and The Institute of Actuaries of Australia. Students in India prefer to apply for the IFoA as the papers offered are relatively easy, although the minimum pass percentage and the cost for taking exams are much higher.

SKILLS REQUIRED - Actuarial Science is not an easy route to follow, and the process of becoming an Actuary is long. So before you take the leap into this career, you should check whether you possess certain important skills or not.

You Should Pursue this Career if:

- ♦ You are able to work with numbers efficiently.
- ♦ You have a strong hold on calculus, statistics and probability concepts.

- ♦ You have strong analytical skills.
- ♦ You are comfortable dealing with huge amounts of data.
- ♦ You can work for long durations at a stretch.
- ♦ Actuaries are expected to be good at mathematics, statistics and possess good modeling skills.
- ♦ A very sound and thorough understanding of the business environment, economics, financial markets and accounts is a must.
- ♦ One should be equipped with good computer and communication skills.

SCOPE: Career Opportunities in Actuarial Science in following sectors

- ♦ Insurance Sector
  - ♦ Business Sector
  - ♦ Banking and Financial Services
  - ♦ Health and Medical Sector
- Actuarial Science is one of the most popular courses among those who have a knack for numbers, statistics and data. It is a field with immense scope if you have the right set of skills and analytical abilities.

You can work in multiple areas in both private and government sectors. Within the field of insurance, you can work in different areas, such as health insurance, vehicle insurance, life insurance, employee retirement and benefit plans, general insurance, etc. Besides insurance companies, one can work in Pension and Benefits firms.

An MBA in Insurance or Actuarial Science will give the expertise to manage insurance and risk projects and ensure their smooth functioning. One can even work as a consultant and advice companies in multiple areas such as life insurance, taxation, employee benefits, risk management, investment, etc.

SOME OF THE COLLEGES OFFERING COURSES IN ACTUARIAL SCIENCE

- ♦ Institute of Actuaries of India, Mumbai
- ♦ Christ University, Bengaluru (M.Sc Actuarial Science)
- ♦ Bishop Heber College, Tiruchirappalli (B.Sc. Actuarial Mathematics Science)
- ♦ Birla Institute of Management and Technology, Greater Noida (PGDM Insurance Business Management )
- ♦ AMITY School of Insurance and Actuarial Science, Noida
- ♦ University of Madras

Most people don't go into the actuarial profession without the intention to become a fully qualified actuary. The actuarial analyst job is a stepping stone on that journey. So, really, you have to think about whether a career as an actuary is right for you. You need to be goal oriented and persistent. Getting through all the actuarial exams can be quite a long and difficult process. It is one of the most difficult courses. As the scope of actuarial work has expanded tremendously, it has become all the more important to keep one-self upgraded on the latest calculating techniques and tools. All life insurers, reinsurers, actuarial consulting firms and general insurers are the leading employers. There are a few KPO/ BPOs, which are providing actuarial services to their clients abroad; they also recruit actuarial talent.

GENDER ...

Unfortunately, India ranks 108th in the report.

Gender Equality

Equality is a fundamental human right. It is the right of different groups of people to have a similar social position and receive the same treatment. Equality on the basis of gender is a pre-requisite for making a just and sustainable society. UNICEF defines it as,

"Gender Equality means that women and men, and girls and boys, enjoy the same rights, resources, opportunities and protections. It does not require that girls and boys, or women and men, be the same, or that they be treated exactly alike."

According to ABC of Women Worker's Rights and Gender Equality, ILO, 2000:

"Gender equality, equality between men and women, entails the concept that all human beings, both men and women, are free to develop their personal abilities and make choices without the limitations set by stereotypes, rigid gender roles and prejudices. Gender equality means that the different behaviour, aspirations and needs of women and men are considered, valued and favoured equally. It does not mean that women and men have to become the same, but that their rights, responsibilities and opportunities will not depend on whether they are born male or female. Gender equity means fairness of treatment for women and men, according to their respective needs. This may include equal treatment or treatment that is different but which is considered equivalent in terms of rights, benefits, obligations and opportunities."

Gender Equality means equal opportunity and equal access to resources and rewards for both women and men in all spheres of life. This needs to be attained across four key sectors - economic opportunity, political empowerment, educational attainment, and health and survival. An important aspect of promoting gender equality is the empowerment of women, with a focus on identifying and redressing power imbalances and giving women more autonomy to manage their own lives.

Women Empowerment

Women's empowerment is critical to achieving gender equality. It is the skill of women to exercise full control over their activities. It means control over intelligent assets, material resources, and even over their philosophies. Women are missing of chances in different fields of employment and are segregated on account of they are women. Deep biases and severe poverty against women create a pitiless cycle of inequity that keeps them from satisfying their maximum capacity.

Empowerment is the helping tool for women to attain equality with men and to reduce gender bias noticeably. Women play an important role in the development of different sectors and contribute for economic improvement in the visible and invisible form. Hence there is a need of social, political, economical and cultural empowerment of women simultaneously to remove this cruel cycle in which Indian women have been entrapped very badly. The actual truth is dreadful conditions and exploitation of women specially women from deprived sections of the society and those belonging to rural areas.

Constitutional & Legal Provisions for Women Empowerment in India

After the independence of India in 1947, the constitution makers and the leaders recognised the equal social position of women with men. The Constitution of India guarantees equality of sexes, and in fact grants special favours to women. As per the Article 14, the government shall not deny to any person equality before law or equal protection of the law. Article 15 says that government shall not discriminate against any citizen on the ground of sex; while Article 15 (3) enables the state to make affirmative discriminations in favour of women. Article 16 gives equality of opportunity in matters of public employment and directs that no citizens on the basis of sex can be discriminated against. Article 42, under Directive Principles of State Policy, directs the state to make provision for ensuring just and human conditions of work and maternity relief. Above all, the constitution regards a fundamental duty on every citizen through Articles 51 (A), (E) to renounce the practices derogatory

I COMMIT TO

- Celebrate the birth of a girl child
- Take pride in daughters and oppose the mindset related to "Paraya Dhan"
- Find ways to promote equality between boys & girls
- Secure admission to & retention of girl child in schools
- Engage men and boys to challenge gender stereotypes and roles
- Report any incident of sex determination test
- Strive to make neighbourhood safe & violence-free for women & girls
- Oppose dowry & child marriage
- Advocate simple marriages
- Support women's right to inherit and own property to the dignity of women.

The Hindu Marriage Act, 1955 has determined the age for marriage, provided for monogamy and guardianship of the mother and permitted the dissolution of marriage under specific circumstances. Under the Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act, 1956, an unmarried woman, widow or divorcee of sound mind can also take child in adoption. Similarly, the Dowry Prohibition Act of 1961 says that any person who gives, takes, or abets the giving or taking of dowry shall be punished with imprisonment, which may extend to six months or fine up to Rs.5000/ or with both.

The government has also taken giant steps to empower Muslim women. The ordinance "The Muslim Women (Protection of Rights on Marriage) Second Ordinance 2019" was recently re-promulgated. It seeks to "protect the rights of married Muslim women and prevent divorce by the practise of instantaneous and irrevocable 'talaq-e-biddat' by the their husbands" and to "provide the rights of subsistence allowance, custody of minor children to victims of triple talaq i.e. talaq-e-biddat"

For better gender balance at workplaces, several legal provisions have been taken by the Government. The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition, and Redressal) Act was enacted in 2013 to help those who face sexual harassment at work. This law mandates every company to have a well-documented mechanism to address complaints about sexual advances and demands for sexual favours at work. This Act entitles every woman a safe work environment and offers guidelines on initiating action against any sexual misconduct. The Act also has provisions for organising workshops and awareness programmes on sexual harassment.

The Maternity Benefit (Amendment) Act, 2017 has amended the Maternity Benefit Act, 1961, increasing maternity leave available to the working women from 12 weeks to 26 weeks for the first two children. As per the provisions of the new law, the employer may permit a woman to work from home if it is possible to do so.

Recent Government Initiatives

Beti Bachao Beti Padhao initiative was launched in early 2015 to usher in a transformational shift in the way our society looks at the girl child. There is a strong emphasis on mindset change through training, sensitization, awareness raising and community mobilization on the ground. Due to these efforts, the sex ratio at birth improved in 104 districts among those identified as gender-sensitive. 119 districts reported progress in first trimester registrations and 146 districts improved in institutional deliveries. Buoyed by the success of this initiative in these districts, BBBP has now been expanded across all 640 districts of the country.

Pradhan Mantri Sukanya Samridhi Yojana was introduced to ensure the financial security of the girl child. As per the latest official data, more than 1.26 crore Sukanya Samridhi accounts have been opened with around Rs 20,000 crore deposited in them.

To secure women and particularly girl child against violence the government has made the death penalty for the rape of a girl child under 12 years. It has also ensured that the minimum punishment for the rape of a girl under 16 years is increased from 10 years to 20 years.

MUDRA Yojana was launched by the Government to boost financial empowerment of women, making them beneficiaries of formal financial institutions. It provides collateral-free loans to entrepreneurs and help them achieve their dreams. Another programme, Stand Up India, also provides entrepreneurship loans of up to Rs 1 crore to women or SC/ST entrepreneurs. Over 9 crore women, till date, have availed entrepreneurship loans jointly from MUDRA and Stand Up India. Women constitute over 70% of MUDRA's beneficiaries.

The recently launched POSHAN Abhiyan is an initiative to tackle malnutrition through multi-modal interventions. Multiple ministries are coming together and ensuring a targeted approach through the power of technology in this battle against malnutrition. Mission Indradhanush is a program that aims to boost the health of pregnant women and children through vaccination. More than 80 lakh pregnant women have been immunised under the mission.

Pradhan Mantri Matru Vandana Yojana provides economic support to pregnant women and lactating mothers. It ensures timely checkups, an important factor in ensuring the health of mothers and children. Cash incentive of Rs 6,000 is offered to pregnant or lactating mothers to help them afford better nutrition. More than 50 lakh women are expected to benefit from PMMVY every year.

Ujjwala Yojana, launched by the government, is a programme that provides free LPG connections, has clocked over 5.33 crore connections even before its deadline. This helps women have healthier, smoke-free lives while also helping them save the time and energy spent on looking for firewood.

Conclusion

The Empowerment of women has become one of the most important concerns of 21st century not only at national level but also at the international level. There is no denying the fact that women in India have made a considerable progress in the last seventy years but yet they have to struggle against many handicaps and social evils in the male dominated society. There is a need to take measures to reduce women's unpaid work, initiatives to ensure women's equal access to decent employment opportunities, resources and finance, and helping to develop and implement gender-sensitive budget processes. The Government is making all efforts to ensure Gender Equality but those initiatives alone would not be sufficient to achieve this herculean task. We as a Society must take initiative to create a climate in which there is no gender discrimination and women get full opportunities of self decision making and participating in the social, political and economic life of the Country with a sense of equality. It has been found that the strong correlation between a country's gender gap and its economic performance. If we as a nation aspires to be the World Power in near future, we need to make gender equality a critical part of the nation's human capital development.
