WAR AGAINST PLASTIC PERIL

Dr. Shri Nath Sahai

It was after the World War II that spurt and escalation in the production of plastics started. And now, plastic is widely used; occupying every space, everywhere in the various forms and shapes. In the year 2015 world produced 448 million tonnes of plastic, that was more than twice as much created in 1998. China makes the largest amount of plastic, followed by North America and the Europe. In India about 178 million tones of plastic was produced for 'house use' during 2018. The production growth is high, showing no trend of slowing down.

Plastic is being used now enormously in packaging things like plastic bottles, consumer goods of all kinds, cellphones, refrigerators. They are used in household furnitures, construction materials and pipes etc. It is also used in cars, two wheelers and for clothing, usually as polyester and other microfiber material. Over 35 percent of the plastic produced is used for packaging like water bottles.

Plastic Waste: Plastic is used very hugely on one hand, and on another hand, it is made a 'quick-waste' immediately. A study by co-author Jenna Jambeck of University of Georgia calculates that of the 9.1 billion tonnes of plastic produced, nearly 7 billion tones are no longer used. That, only 9 percent got recycled and another 12 percent was incinerated; leaving 5.5 billion tones of it being dumped as waste on land and in water.

Unlike other material, plastic is such a stuff as it does not give way and crack. Therefore, nearly 75 percent of this stuff results in waste; lying scattered on the land, dumped in the landfills and made floating in the lakes, rivers and oceans.

Ocean of Plastic Waste: A study published in Scientific Reports mentions that the vast dumps of bottles, children toys, broken electronic, containers, abandoned fishing nets and microparticles swirling in the Pacific Ocean, is now bigger than France, Germany and Spain combined. Nearly 80,000 tonnes of plastic have been found, which is equal to the weight of 500 Jumbo Jets. This is 16 times greater the plastic -mass uncovered previously. More than eight million tones of plastic enter the oceans every year, accumulating in five giant garbage patches around the planet.

Plastic Ban: Plastic waste is a big issue today. To rid the environment of this menace, which has been going up in the food-chain, the European Union has proposed ban on single-use plastics, stirrers, ballon sticks and cotton buds. It has urged the collection of the most plastic bottles by 2025. The proposals call for the member states to reduce use of plastic food containers and drinking cups. Food chain is affected most by the problem of plastic, all over the world. Sea turtles are killed by the amount of rubbish and so is affected the wildlife.

To meet the challenge of global marine population, Britain committed £ 61.4 (Rs. 576 crores) for sake of global research and to improve waste-management in developing countries.

In India, several state govts. have strictly enforced the ban on use of plastic. In Uttar Pradesh, the High Court had directed in 2015, to issue notification enforcing complete ban on plastic. Govt. had issued an ordinance, banning manufacturing and use of polythene less than 50 micron, plastic bags and thermocol. From August 15, 2018 manufacturing, storage and distribution of cup, plate, glass and spoon etc. from plastic and thermocol have been banned completely. Any defiance of this order entails fine upto Rs. 25,000/- and jail term. Bestrewing plastic material on roads, in drains, lakes, rivers and oceans are also punish-able. Railway department had also accepted to implement this ban to save the environment.

Alternatives: People perceive, the scheme is 'good' but feel, the substitutes will cost more. There

CARVING OUT A MEANINGFUL CAREER

Rruchi Shrimalli

This weekend, I had an interesting conversation with a genius Class 12 student. Simran Kaur (name changed) who scored 97% marks in her Class 10 exams and opted for Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics (PCM) in Class 11 because that's what all the intelligent students of her class were doing. She also joined a reputed engineering coaching class and is doing quite well there. All her teachers are upbeat that she would certainly sail through the JEE exams and bring them glory as a 'star achiever'.

The only problem is that she is not enjoying herself. The engineering coaching takes too much of her time. After school, she spends two hours in her coaching class during weekends - and rest of the day, she is busy with her homework and self-studies. On the weekends - Saturdays and Sundays - she has an 8-hour coaching class schedule and of course, the homework and practice sheets to do.

As I delved deeper, I found that this girl had decided to become an IAS officer ever since she was in Class 5. She joined the engineering coaching and wants to take the engineering exam because she wants to prove to her peers that she 'can' do it. She loves to paint, read and write. If she had chosen Humanities, she would still have been a model student.

Remember, this young lady scored 97% in her Class 10 board exams and aced IMO, IEO and several other Olympiads. She is bright and studious. And yet, she feels a need to prove herself to her peers.

This is how peer pressure works. No matter, how bright you are, how talented you are, how old you are, or how many achievements you have under your belt, you still seek social validation and approval. And in the process, we forget to work on our dreams.

I received another question online. Siddhartha was a PCMB (Physics, Chemistry, Maths and Biology) student till Class 12. He opted for BA after his intermediate board exams because he wanted to become an IAS officer too. But now, in the final year of his graduation, he realised that he is not cut-out for the vocation. Again, he did not want to waste his years of hard work and wanted my help to come up with a Plan B for him.

Here are some of the questions such students ask me and my response to their questions:

I scored 95% in Class 10 and then chose Maths stream because that's what all the intelligent children around me were doing. Now, my Class 12 board exams are just round the corner. I have slogged so hard in my engineering coaching and my teachers have high hopes from me. I don't want to be an engineer but I don't want to look like a fool by not appearing for JEE exams now. What do you suggest?

Psychology says that humans are hardwired to seek approval from others around them - be it their parents, friends, relatives or colleagues. They also feel a need to stand by the decision they make even if it seems stupid for a while. Dr. Robert Cialdini's book 'Influence: The Psychology of Persuasion' discusses this at length.

Fortunately, we also have the power to recognise these is great shortage of polythene options and even what is available, there is great disparity in prices. The prices of Cloth and jute bags have shot up very high, putting financial strain on them. cloth bags, usually available earlier for Rs. 350-400 are being charged at Rs. 600 per bag by the shops. Roadside eateries are costlier now, with the increase of cost in packaging. Consumers of eating-points, restaurants, cafes, dhabas resent more than shop managers. There is need to make eco-friendly, cheap products to serve food at the same cost. Use of malik, in place of plastic bowls, makes the dishes costlier. Durable newspaper or cloth bags, reusable glasses and crockeries are needed for delivery work. Lack of sustainable alternatives will destroy the very purpose of saying 'no to plastic'.

The newly constituted Matikala Board in Uttar Pradesh is promoting use of Kulhads (clay cups) as alternative to plastic - cups. State govt. will make available land - pattas, free electricity and free transfer of technology to the artisans; besides waiving off all the taxes. Special pottery hubs will also be set up. This will be environment friendly measure, as also will provide economic benefits to the potters community, numbering about two crore of the U.P's population.

How Damaging? : Owing to the ingredients used, 6 kg CO₂ is generated in the manufacture of 1 kg plastic these products are harmful. For instance in Maharashtra, 1800 kg CO₂ pollution was generated by each family, because of the use of plastic over 15 years. And 24 crore trees needed to absorb the quantity of CO₂ generated by the State's 4 crore families in 15 years.

Buyback Mechanism: In Maharashtra State 2400 tonnes of plastic-waste is generated each day. During the 15 years, 131.4 lakh tones have been generated. To tackle the problem, Maharashtra Govt. has introduced a buyback scheme for waste-plastics, like that being implemented in 40 countries overseas, including U.S, Germany and Norway etc. U.K is also planning to launch it soon. Under the scheme, manufacturers should charge a refundable amount from the purchaser of the bottled or pouched product of plastic. The deposit will be refunded, once bottle is deposited with the retailer or with the reverse vending machines. Onus of collecting and recycling PET (polyethylene terephthalate) bottles and milk pouches lies with the manufacturers. Recycling has been made manufacturing licence norm in the Plastic Waste Management Rules 2016. Top beverage-makers like Coca-Cola, Pepsico and Bisleri have been printing buyback value on PET bottles sold in Maharashtra. A consumer must return PET bottles and pouches to claim deposit, instead of littering them on lands or in rivers, which would be punishable offence. The rates of deposits suggested are : Rs. One per bottle of a litre or more, Rs. Two per bottle from 200 ml up to a liter and 50 paise per milk pouch. The recycled plastic will be used for industrial fuel and road building etc. To encourage recycling France makes virgin plastic bottles dearer, replacing them with cheaper ones, produced with recycled plastics. It also plans increased taxes on landfill; reduced value - added tax on recycling activities and a discount in premium system worth upto 10 percent on product price.

E-waste and bio - medical wastes: The Central govt. has amended the existing rules for better management of the e-waste and bio-medical waste and revised target for monitoring under the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB). It is now mandatory for the Producer Responsibility Organizations (PROs) to register themselves with the CPCB for better control on them. The electronic goods manufacturers will now be responsible to collect and channel e-waste from the consumers to the authorized dismantlers and recyclers. The e-waste management rules have been amended by environment ministry to suit the environment. For biomedical waste, hospitals and allied clinics have not to use chlorinated plastic bags and gloves. Railway has installed machines at the stations to crush the plastic bottles.

Plastic - Eating Bacteria and Enzyme: According to a report, one student Morgan Vague (Reed College, Oregon) has found a bacteria that is capable of "eating" plastic and potentially breaking it down into harmless by-products. A few years back, Japanese researchers had discovered a naturally occurring bacterium known as Ideonella Sakaiensis, appearing to feed exclusively on a type of plastic, known as polyethylene terephthalate (PET), used in plastic bottles. While aiming to understand how one of its enzymes - called PETase worked, the scientists subsequently found another enzyme cutinase in fungus and bacteria. And when they mutated the PETase to make it more like the cutinase, they found this mutant enzyme was even better, that could enable full recycling of plastic. Now researchers are working on further improvement of the enzyme for the industrial use.

War Against Plastic: 'Beat Plastic Pollution' has been the theme of this year's World Environment Day (June 5, 2018), of which India was the host.

The Govt. of India has written to all states and Union territories to start a massive campaign against the use of single-use plastics and make the use of carry-bags of less than 50 microns in thickness, illegal. Even earlier also in the year 2016, the use of polythene bags of the said thickness was banned. But most of the States could not enforce it, facing vendors and small businessmen opposition, especially at eating joints, showing lack of alternatives. This time, the Environment Ministry has sensitized the States to a great deal. Many States have made out their action plan, and some corporate houses have banned plastic used for making bags etc.

India strives assuming the role of global leader, for eliminating plastic pollution.

Creating Public Consciousness: Students are more alive to the prevailing plastic peril and have taken up the issue to making the public aware of it, through posters, banners, slogans, songs and playing street - plays. For example, In La Martiniere Girls College, Lucknow (U.P) items like shopping bags, pouches, large carry-bags and cushion covers etc., made out of worn - out clothes and such waste materials, were exhibited, as replacement to plastic, for the knowledge of public. To eliminate plastic, complete sensitivity of people is needed.

influences and override them.

You have worked hard enough. You chose PCM and you proved that you have the logical and reasoning skills that are at par with the best students in your class. You have already proved that you can be one of the best in the engineering coaching if you want to. But do not let your need of validation take away your power of choosing what you want to do.

If engineering is not your end goal, you do not have to choose it.

I originally wanted to be a doctor. Now, I want to be a musician. What if I join a music course now and regret my decision later?

Lata Mangeshkar would never have regretted missing

Geography, then those are the subjects you should seek admission in.

Can I seek admission to Humanities courses in DU colleges if I am a PCM student?

You can do so but you have to sacrifice 2% marks when you change stream to join a Delhi University course. So, if you are a PCM student and scored 96% in Class 12 and then, choose to apply for a B.A. in Geography in a DU college, your marks will be counted as 94% (because you changed your stream) in the cut-off list the college prepares for the course.

All universities have different rules though. Some of the other universities may not cut down your marks for trying to change your stream.

If I opt for the coaching classes for Civil Services, judge your personality type. This self-assessment questionnaire puts you under four major temperaments: Artisans, Guardians, Idealists and Rationals. Each of these temperaments are further divided into two categories - each of which aim at a specific job role. Each job role is further classified in two types which define two variants of the role.

You can take the test and then, study more about your personality type on the official Kiersey website.

Skill-based Assessment Tools

- ♦ O*NET Online is a good place to surf through. This tool also allows you to surf jobs by your interests, work activities, work styles, work values, work contexts, and physical work conditions. You can also search potential careers you may opt for through the skills you have.

- ♦ Government of Canada has developed a similar site where you can explore careers by essential skills you must have.

- ♦ Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojana (PMKVY) is offering skill-based training programs in over 30 sectors right now. You can check the different sector-specific skill councils to see the training programs being offered for different job roles in these sectors.

Values Assessment Test

- ♦ MyPlan Career Values Assessment Test is available for free. This test helps you to assess what kind of work motivates you and what kind of work environment or characteristics you need to achieve job satisfaction. This test also suggests careers that match your values.

- ♦ Career Perfect's Insight Values Inventory does not offer you career choices but it offers you a much more detailed analysis of your work values. This tool is also available for free.

Which careers are open for me based on the stream I opt for?

There is no dearth of opportunities for the graduates of all the three major streams - Science, Commerce or Humanities. Most career counselors have extensive list of different careers one can opt for based on the stream of education one has chosen. You can visit them for more guidance.

If you cannot afford to go to a good counselor, you might consider exploring the options you have on your own. Just google for "<Careers/Courses> after <Class 10/Class12/ graduation/post graduation> for <subject/stream> student" and you should find a lot of options easily.

the Team India selection for under-16. Sachin Tendulkar would never have regretted for not appearing for the Indian Idol talent show. You do not regret decisions that do not fall in line with your end career aims.

If you are sure you want to become a musician, you should concentrate all your efforts on it. If you are not sure that you'd be happy being a musician or not, maybe you should take a break for a year, try your hand at music and see if you can commit to it long-term.

Sometimes, your mind plays tricks on you to avoid a difficult path. So, you do want to be a doctor but since achieving that goal seems difficult, your mind tries to avoid it by choosing something that seems easier. In such a case, you should visit a career counsellor and take a detailed test for better guidance.

My parents want me to be an engineer and I want to become an IAS officer. Should I do engineering first and then, prepare for Civil Services?

Many engineers crack IAS exams so no doubt, you can do your B.Tech first and then prepare for the UPSC exam. There is no harm in doing Engineering if that's what you would love to do. However, if you do engineering merely because your parents want you to do it, you might not enjoy four years of learning. You feel dissatisfied and frustrated and not be able to learn as you should.

Do not feel pressured to follow a certain path. If you think you would be happier studying History or would it be advisable to go for an Open University course instead of a regular one?

Hands down, a regular course from a traditional university holds more value than an Open University course or a distance course in the real world. Moreover, you learn more in a regular class than when you study alone.

That said, you may consider joining a lower-grade college which is more flexible with the attendance and other requirements. If coaching is your priority, you may find it difficult to meet the rigorous demands of the top colleges in India along with that of the top coaching classes for the UPSC.

Are there any self-assessment tools which can help me identify which careers I should choose?

This is like asking the magic trick from the magician. Yet, here are some of the free self-assessment tools you may use to understand yourself better:

Tools to Understand Yourself

- ♦ O*Net Interest Profiler is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labour. It is a free tool to assess your vocational interests on the RIASEC scale (which categorise the interests in six categories: Realistic, Investigative, Artistic, Social, Enterprising, and Conventional). It also offers you a list of jobs that match your interests that require no preparation all the way to those that might require extensive preparation.

- ♦ Kiersey Temperament Sorter is another tool to

Can I earn my living as a painter?

One of the most difficult areas of providing career advice is for those who want to make a living as a creative artist. According to Payscale India, painters make anywhere between Rs 72,000 to Rs 10,00,000 per year. Assuming you are talking about being a fine artist, you may make anywhere between Rs 1,00,000 to Rs 20,00,000 books, artist agents who promote your art work, and several other agents to help actors, dancers, and other types of artists to create a niche in the market. When you are good at what you do, you can always tap into right opportunities with the help of these people.

My advice to all the students or professionals who come to me is - Do not be afraid to do what you love. Once you start working on what you are passionate about, you'll surely reach your full potential.

It's never too late to start working on your dreams. It doesn't matter if you are 14 or 40. As long as you are clear about your goals and ready to do anything to achieve them,

Women get a special focus under Skill India Mission

Ministry of Skill Development and Entrepreneurship has undertaken several initiatives to achieve women empowerment through skill development. Increase of women participation in workforce can give further boost to our economy and Skill India mission is committed to facilitate this through equipping women with market relevant skills and lead them to a path of self-sufficiency through entrepreneurship. Following initiatives have been undertaken to facilitate skill development among women and spur entrepreneurship.

1. Long Term Skill Development Training via Industrial Training Institutes (ITIs)

Through a wide network of 15,042 ITIs, spanning the country, over 22.82 lakh candidates have been enrolled (in the trades of one year and two-year duration) and special focus is laid on enrolment of women. There is nearly 97% increase in admissions in 2018 as compared to 2014 to reach 173,105 women trainees from 87,799.

2. Short-Term Skill Development Training

The flagship program of the Ministry, Pradhan Mantri Kaushal Vikas Yojana strives to promote increased participation of women in the workforce through appropriate skilling and gender mainstreaming of skills. Close to 50% of the candidates enrolled and trained under PMKVY are women; out of the total 56 lakh candidates who have benefited from the scheme. The efforts are made to continually revise job roles taking into account market demand and are cognizant of industry requirements for female professionals. Skill India has partnered with Government Initiatives like Ayushman Bharat, Swachh Bharat Mission, Smart City Mission etc. to align skill development efforts to these national missions by ensuring a steady flow of skilled workforce.

3. Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Under the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), more than 4 lakh women candidates have been oriented in different skill areas, recognizing their existing skills through a formal certificate and giving them a means to earn better livelihood.

4. Apprenticeship Training

The comprehensive reforms that have been made to the Apprenticeship Act 1961 has opened up opportunities for apprentices in the service sector. Skill India, through NSDC, is conducting focused pilot program with UNDP and Society of Development Alternatives (DA), to benefit more than 50,000 women in 7 states/UTs over a duration of 15 months.

5. Policy Interventions

The National Skill Development Policy focuses on inclusive skill development, with the objective of increased women participation for better economic productivity. To achieve this, emphasis has been laid on creating additional infrastructure both for training and apprenticeship for women; flexible training delivery mechanisms such as mobile training units, flexible afternoon batches along with on local need-based training to accommodate women; and ensuring safe and gender sensitive training environment, employment of women trainers, equity in remuneration, and complaint redressal mechanism. Besides these, the Common Norms approved by Ministry for various skill development programs provide special support for women candidates such as provision of boarding and lodging facilities.

6. Special Women-Centric Projects

NSDC, through its training partners such as Mann Deshi Foundation, Shri Mahila Sewa Sahkari Bank Limited and Sri Sarada Math Rasik Bhita are working exclusively on skill development of women, especially in rural areas. The training constitutes imparting digital, accounting and entrepreneurial skills so as to facilitate the possibility of setting up their own business. NSDC in collaboration with the Ministry of Drinking Water and Sanitation is also driving skill development of workers for Swachh Bharat Mission.

7. Partnerships with Private & Non-Government Organizations to boost skill development

Some of the collaborative efforts with private players include organizations such as Airbnb to support homestay services by providing training in hospitality and tourism sectors. Under a PMKVY project, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham is targeting remote villages to foster women empowerment through skill development and creation of occupational opportunities. The project is focused towards vulnerable and marginalized groups and tribal population. With over 50% participation from women, the project has been implemented in Chhattisgarh, Odisha, Jharkhand, Kerala and Tamil Nadu. Partnership with HumaraBachpan Trust in Odisha aims to give employment & entrepreneurship opportunities to about 1500 women belonging to the economically disadvantaged sections. Partnership with Industree Crafts Foundation, a formation of producer group companies, is helping in training and supporting women targeted to benefit 1500 women in Karnataka. Partnership with Youthnet Home Stay Project in North East (Nagaland and Arunachal Pradesh) is improving the quality of homestays and providing a source of income to 200 residents.

8. Projects in Pradhan Mantri Mahila Kaushal Kendra (PMMKK)

Recently, more than 6000 training targets have been allocated to train women in 4 PMMKs. The crèche facility is also available at these centers so as to facilitate the new mothers to take up skill training. Trainings are being conducted for Self Employed Tailor, Beauty Therapist, Customer Care Executive, Hair Stylist, Yoga Trainer, etc.

9. Future jobs and industry-oriented courses

Aligned to NSQF, there are nearly 450 job roles which are concentrated towards skill training of women. Skill India is encouraging participation of women in new-age job roles aligned to Industry such as Artificial Intelligence, 3D printing, Data Analytics etc. and has witnessed increased participation of women in hard skills like welding, automobile mechanics etc. Skill India has also partnered with global industry leaders like SAP, Adobe, IBM to create skill development programs aligned to the needs of Industry.

10. Entrepreneurial Initiatives

MSDE is committed to facilitate growth of women entrepreneurs in the country. NIESBUD under the MSDE has designed

"Sabka Saath Sabka Vikas", a compilation of selected speeches of Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, was released by Shri Arun Jaitley, Union Minister of Finance and Corporate Affairs today in a function organized by Ministry of Information & Broadcasting at National Media Centre, New Delhi on March 8, 2019.
