INDIAN CONSTITUTION AND THE CITIZENS

Dr. Subhash C Kashyap

When the framers of our Constitution visualized the future polity for India, they attached the highest importance and primacy to India being fully 'sovereign' with the supreme power of the State vesting in the people and the people of India acknowledging no external authority or superior outside or inside the country. The Constitution of India does not contain any specific provisions in regard to the vesting of sovereignty. But the words "we the people of India" resolving "to constitute India into a sovereign...Republic with which the Preamble begins indicate the residence of sovereignty in the people of India. The closing words of the Preamble which declare that it is the people who "adopt, enact and give to ourselves the Constitution" again indicate that the source of the Constitution is in the people of India.

◆ There existed no concept of Indian citizenship before 26 November 1949: Citizenship provisions in the Constitution - Articles 5 to 11 - gave the Constitution Drafting Committee the maximum "headache" and took more than two years to be finalized. Even then, the Constitution only laid down the law in regard to who would be citizens of India at the time of the commencement of the Constitution. It did not provide for the mode of acquisition and termination of citizenship. The Indian Citizenship Act passed in 1955 laid down the law for acquisition and termination of Indian Citizenship.

◆ No Indian citizen can seek to exclude himself from a situation of National Emergency: While a Proclamation of Emergency is in operation, the situation calls upon all the citizens, irrespective of the State they may live in, to constitute themselves into a single national mould to defend national honour and sovereignty. No citizen should be able to exclude himself from this national effort on the plea that his State was not affected or threatened by the emergency and there he was not concerned. In an emergency, there is only one entity-the Union- and only one nation - India- and all the citizens of India have to rise above local and parochial interests to join together in the national mainstream to meet the challenge to national sovereignty and honour.

◆ Despite ceasing to be a Fundamental Right, an Indian citizens' right to property is still fully protected: While right to property is no longer a Fundamental Right, it is still a constitutional right (Bishamber Vs State of UP, AIR 1982 SC 33). A constitutional safeguard has been provided in article 300A which says that no person shall be deprived

THE STRENGTHS OF INDIAN CONSTITUTION

Shivaji Sarkar

The Constitution protects individual freedom, places power in the hands of citizens, limits the power of the government and establishes a system of checks and balances. It also allows to amend it, as the people like, through parliamentary process.

That is the Constitution of India. It is one of the bulkiest Constitutions of the world. It is rigid as its basic structure cannot be changed. It is flexible as it can be interpreted and amended. It ensures federal system with a unitary bias, gives fundamental rights and enshrines duties too, have directive principles of state policy, and parliamentary system of government.

Most importantly, it gives to the people independent judiciary, which can interpret the Constitution, its amendments and accept or reject any new law or amendment.

Parliament and state legislatures have the power to make laws within their respective jurisdictions. However, this is not absolute in nature and subjected to judicial review. If a law violates any provision of the Constitution, the Supreme Court (SC) has the power to declare such a law invalid or ultra vires.

Article 368 gives parliament powers to amend the document. But since parliament or any legislative body may act under political compulsions and enthusiasm, founding fathers entrusted with the Supreme Court the powers to review.

The basic structure doctrine is concerned with preserving the sanctity of the Constitution as a higher law. It was developed by the Supreme Court (SC) in Kesavanand Bharati vs State of Kerala (1973), where the SC held that the Constitutional amending power was subject to implied limitations - basic features of the Constitution.

PREPARING FOR SPECIALIST OFFICER JOB IN BANKS

Arti S

Those who appeared in the Institute of Banking Personnel Selection (IBPS) General Banking Officer preliminary examination have got their results and successful candidates should be getting ready to appear in the main examination. Now the opportunity has come for those who are keen to become specialist officers in public sector banks whose offices and branches are spread all over the country.

We all know that banks require officer and clerical employees to offer their services to public. In case of officers we mostly think of general banking officers as while visiting a bank branch, we're most likely to come across such officers only. Specialist officers are usually posted in administrative offices of these banks and we don't get to see many of them.

Banks have openings for both generalist and specialist officers. For specialist officers you need to have studied the subject of specialization, whereas graduates in any discipline can apply for the generalists' positions. Another interesting thing to note that is while all those eligible for specialist officers are also eligible (in terms of qualification) for generalist positions but its reverse is not true.

There are lesser vacancies for specialist officers but the number of applicants is also less. So the level of competition is not much different in the selection process for general banking or specialist officers.

Becoming specialist or generalist is a choice applicable in career and also in life. It depends on your aptitude, aspirations and preferences. As regards career path for specialist officers in government banks, opportunity to move to general banking is available after putting in certain number of years as specialist officers, as per the policy of individual banks. However for a general banking officer it is not always easy to move to specialised functions.

Now banks are also taking people with super and micro specializations. Such requirement is few and far between and talent pool for such positions is limited. Much more vacancies can be found in broad specializations like Agriculture, Human resource, Information technology, Law, Marketing and Language. Most government owned banks have specialist positions of Agriculture officer, Human resource (HR) officer Information technology (IT) officer, Law officer, Marketing officer and Rajbhasha officer at entry level i.e. in Junior Management Grade Scale I. Eligibility norms for these positions and functions of such officers are described below-

Agriculture Officer: In some banks this position has a nomenclature of Rural Development Officer, Agriculture Field Officer or Agriculture Development Officer. Agriculture is a vast subject and B.Sc. (Ag) is the most common graduate qualification in agriculture. Of course this qualification makes a candidate eligible for the post but many other qualifications are considered as well. These include degree in Animal husbandry, Fisheries science, Horticulture, Veterinary science, Forestry, Agri-forestry, Pisciculture, Food technology, Sericulture, Dairy science/Technology, Agriculture Marketing, Cooperation & Banking, Agricultural engineering and Agricultural business management.

As we all know banks are required to play a significant role in implementation of many government schemes particularly rural development schemes. Banks have to make sure that a certain percentage of their credit goes to agriculture which is divided in many categories viz. direct agriculture, indirect agriculture and activities allied to agriculture. Then there is credit for agro-industries and agri-clinics. Agriculture officers look after this portfolio of a bank branch and later at administrative level. They visit rural households, farm/landed property etc. to prepare inspection report which is put with loan documents. Preparing and processing of loan documents, monitoring of loan accounts and recovery of loans are included in their responsibilities. They also contribute in formation of Self-help groups and promoting financial literacy. Agriculture officers coordinate with business correspondents attached to their branch to make them play their role effectively. With some experience they can also be appointed as manager of a bank branch.

Human Resource Officer: Requirement of Human resource or HR officers exist in every medium and large organization and so is with banks. Personnel officer is also a designation given to these officers. Those who have chosen HR as specialization in their Master of Business Administration (MBA) or Master of Management Studies (MMS) Degree may apply for this specialist post in banks. Postgraduate Diploma (PGDM) holders in Management with such specialization are also considered eligible. Other qualifications considered are Postgraduate Diploma in Personnel management/ Industrial relations/Labour law. All these courses should be 2 years full time.

As HR officer you'll work at any of the administrative office of the bank and attend to regular HR work like transfer and placement, performance appraisal, salary/compensation and benefits, employee relations, training nominations, employee development etc. Afterwards you may expect to head the HR function in a regional/zonal office.

Law Officer: To apply for Law or legal officer, you need to have a LLB degree which is obtained after graduation (BA/B.Com. etc.) or as a five years integrated course at National Law universities and other institutes. To become eligible you should also be enrolled as an advocate at a bar council.

In banking business contracts are made with depositors, borrowers and suppliers. Opinion of law officers matter when there is any breach of such contract or legal dispute arises. Employees and bank also form a legal relation and when needed you'll be required to define and interpret such relationship, prepare draft of notices given to employees etc. You also need to work in liaison with external lawyers engaged by your bank.

Marketing Officer : For decades banks relied mostly on walk in business but now gradually these are turning into aggressive marketers. Any of the qualifications like MBA /MMS/PGDM with marketing as specialisation makes you eligible to apply for the post of Marketing officer. Here also the course duration of two years and its being full time are prerequisites.

As marketing officer you'll help the bank to achieve its targets in different segments of its business and in selling of third party products. You'll be aware that now banks also work as agents of insurance and mutual fund companies to earn commission. In addition to contributing in growth of business marketing officers help devise new schemes, organize business mobilization camps and take initiatives for brand/image building

Information Technology Officer: Now banking all over the world has gone digital with heavy use of technology and you need people to manage this technology. To get into the role of Information technology i.e. IT officer you need to be a graduate or post graduate in Engineering or Technology in Computer science/ Computer applications/ Electronics and Communication or Telecommunication or Instrumentation/Information Technology. Graduates having passed DOEACC B Level examination are also eligible.

As an IT officer you'll look after the technology system in the bank either at micro or macro level. You may have to play a role in procurement of software and hardware, ensuring that outsourced technological services run well. You'll be involved in computer trouble shooting and implementation of business continuity planning. Database management, cyber security are the other work areas.

Rajbhasha Officer: Rajbhasha officers are also known as Official Language officers or Hindi officers. The prescribed qualification for them is a Postgraduate degree in Hindi with English as a subject at graduation level or Postgraduate degree in English with Hindi as a subject at graduation level. Those having done their Masters in Sanskrit and graduation with Hindi and English may also apply.

The positions of Rajbhasha officers exist in every Central government department and Public Sector Organization as official language act is available to them. As Rajbhasha officer, you'll be instrumental in facilitating this implementation. One major job would be translation of documents etc. from English to Hindi and vice-versa. Organizing Hindi workshops and guiding employees to do their work in Hindi are other duties of Rajbhasha officers.

Selection Process: All the eligible applicants will be first required to appear in a preliminary examination conducted online where you'll be required to mark your answers on the computer screen. For the posts of Law and Rajbhasha officer the preliminary test will comprise of Reasoning, English language and General awareness with special reference to Banking industry. For IT, HR, Marketing and Agriculture officer General awareness has been replaced with quantitative aptitude. Except for the segment of English, questions can be answered either in Hindi or English.

Though qualifying list for main examination will be based on total score, it's necessary to obtain prescribed cut off marks in each individual segment of reasoning, English, General awareness or quantitative aptitude, as the case may be.

The main examination covers only one segment which is professional knowledge in the area of specialization. So applicants for the position of Law officer would be required to answer law related questions and so on. For Rajbhasha officers the segment will be divided into objective and descriptive parts, for others there would be only objective questions.

Preliminary examination is only a qualifying examination. For interview candidates will be shortlisted only on the basis of their score in Main examination.

PREPARING FOR ...

Preparing for different segments:

Your initial focus should be to do your best in the preliminary examination as only then you'll continue to be in the race.

Test of English language will cover comprehension, word meaning, synonyms and antonyms, checking correctness or otherwise of sentences and identifying the part containing the mistake(s), arranging random sentences to form a meaningful paragraph, filling sentences with suitable words etc. A good book on general English covering these may be referred to for preparation. Go through solved examples of comprehension and then practice yourself.

Test of reasoning may have text and image based questions. There are certain types of questions which are often asked and can be solved by adopting a particular method. Take this question- Some juices are fruits, No fruit is a potato, Some potatoes are cakes. After this information some conclusions will be offered and you'll be asked to choose the conclusions that follow. Questions are solved by drawing circles representing given information. You've to get into the core of questions and make sure that your attention is not diverted to irrelevant options. For example in a question with information-Some leaders are honest. Satyapriya is a leader; the following options were given-Satyapriya is honest/

Satyapriya is dishonest/Some leaders are dishonest/Satyapriya is definitely honest/ None of these answers. The answer is some leaders are dishonest. Satyapriya doesn't have to come in the answer just because being mentioned in the question.

In General awareness questions may relate to new developments in business, economy and banking, government initiatives, bank mergers, business books/ authors, national and global business summits etc. Regular reading of at least one financial newspaper and business magazine will keep you updated and help you do well in this part. Also a general knowledge book is needed.

Quantitative aptitude questions may not be simple and straight and may need more than just calculation. In a particular type of questions series of alphabets may be given and the question may be like- which is the fourth element from the third element when counted from left. Another type of question can be - 20 litres of water is added to 80 litres of pure milk. After selling one fourth of this mixture, sufficient water is added to replenish the said quantity. What is the new proportion? You need to revise your understanding of basic maths to do well here.

As regards professional knowledge you've to refresh what you studied in your HR/Marketing/Law / Agriculture course, as is the case. More focus is to be given on common and popular theories. For example in HR, questions may relate to motivation theories, industrial regulations (like Maternity bill etc.). Your textbooks are the best resource here. In case of Rajbhasha, candidates need to be good in translation (English to Hindi & Hindi to English), comprehension, word knowledge, idioms and phrases and should know the constitutional provisions relating to languages along with Official Language Act & Rules.

If you can get hold of previous examination question papers, your job would be easier as you may prepare on the basis of their pattern. These papers can be found in competitive magazines, websites and guides. Also the information booklet provided by examination conducting body should be studied carefully. Practising and solving model question papers will improve your accuracy and speed which form the foundation of success in such examinations.

THE STRENGTHS ...

However, this was not the first time the SC did so. The most significant judgment came in 1950 itself when it extended Article 19, freedom of expression and speech, to include freedom of the press.

The Constitution formally commenced 70 years ago on January 26, 1950. The date was chosen to commemorate the declaration of "Purna Swaraj" at the Lahore session of the Congress in 1929. This day was celebrated as independence day by the Congress. Since 1950, it became the Republic Day as the country bestowed the people of India the statute.

Indeed it has been a unique document prepared by the Constituent Assembly (CA) that was formed as per the provisions of Cabinet Mission Plan of May 1946 for formulating the Constitution for facilitating transfer of power from British authorities to Indians. Dr Rajendra Prasad was elected President of the CA, while VT Krishnamachari and HC Mookerji were vice-presidents. Its secretary general was HVR Iyengar and chief draftsman was SN Mukherji.

After authentication of copies of the Constitution, the CA was dissolved and its chairperson was elected the President of India.

The CA as per records had maximum membership of 307 at the end of its tenure. It had taken help of non-members as well in committees to give the nation an effective document.

Interestingly, Parliament since mid 1990s under the then Speaker Shivraj V Patil reintroduced the committee system, of members of parliament, for discussing the central budget and other bills in detail as the full house was not able to go into the depth.

This was a major reform of the parliamentary proceedings. It has since been an effective system of discussing the bills and budget threadbare.

The CA itself had gone through difficult phases during the draft preparation. KM Munshi played a crucial role of regular link between the Drafting Committee and the Congress Assembly Party. Overall the debates and discussions were of an incomparable standard and intensity. The last voting for adopting the document took place on November 26, 1949.

The final calligraphed document was signed on January 24, 1950 in English and Hindi. Pt Jawaharlal Nehru, prime minister, was the first and Dr Rajendra Prasad, President, was the last to sign these documents. Two days later it was formally bestowed to the 36 crore people of the country.

The founders had the vision to look at different social aspects. Directive principles of state policy aim at establishment of welfare state by securing social and economic justice. Fundamental rights guided by this policy have in principle been trying to establish a classless, casteless and exploitation and discrimination free society.

Various programmes including MNREGA or the recent pension for farmers and other classes of workers or small business people or OBC and EBC reservations have been possible because of these guiding principles.

The making of the Indian Constitution is unparalleled. It takes care of magnificent diversity of languages, faiths, customs and differences. Drafting such a document in post-partition surcharged social milieu was not easy. Despite whip, many spoke against the tenets of the Congress party in CA.

The document often criticised for its bulkiness has stood the test of time despite some attempts during emergency to change it. Attempt for having an autocratic regime by late prime minister Indira Gandhi could not succeed except for the 19 months.

But post-colonial era, such attempts failed across the world in Africa, Latin America and even in the Indian sub-continent. Constitution of Pakistan was declared in 1956 but succumbed to a military dictatorship of Ayub Khan in 1958. Sri Lanka, Burma, Nepal, Maldives and even Bangladesh went into Constitutional turmoil.

Indian Constitution became the 'cornerstone' as it allowed free discussion, allowed flexibility though remained firm on its structure. It has been amended 104 times and still maintains its character.

That is its magic. The founding fathers took its essence from the Bill of Rights, British government of India Act 1935 as also drew finer points from American, English, French statutes and Russian revolutions.

Possibly, it is for this reason that several attempts to redraft or change the statute did not succeed. During Indira Gandhi's time some leaders screamed for a presidential system a number of times. She altered through the 42nd Amendment Act, 1976 the basics. It was corrected by 44th amendment Act during Janata Party rule in 1978. There were some discussions for having a relook through national commission to review the working of the Constitution in 2002. It was abandoned.

Some rumblings take place from time to time. But the bulky book has not been found easy to handle. It amends itself. Even the preamble was amended to include two words socialist and secular. But it has not been found easy to tinker with. That is possibly what the SC says its basic structure.

It combines strong centre with union of states and UTs, accommodates linguistic varieties with 22 recognised languages and other socio-cultural diversities.

It goes into detail on conduct of elections in Article 324.

It maintains balance between judiciary and the executive. Occasional barbs by either of the institutions at each other, it has ensured that none could resort to highhandedness. Without the justice texts there could have been tyranny.

The Indian Constitution gives the supreme authority to the people and certainly not the people in power. It establishes rule of law and not men. The people brought down autocratic rule in 1977.

In September 1931 issue of Young India, Mahatma Gandhi said, "I shall strive for Constitution, which will release India from all thralldom, patronage..."

As the jurist Nani Palkhivala has said the Constitution is meant to impart momentum to the living spirit of the rule of law, democracy and civil liberty.

of his property save by authority of law. Authority of law could be exercised for the general good of the people and to promote public interest and not for arbitrary and punitive action against any citizen. Unless some public interest is involved and the Parliament is convinced of the public interest, a citizen's right to property is fully protected. This protection is not only against State action but also against fellow citizens as well.

♦ No other law or rule can override Fundamental Rights of citizens offering themselves for public service: With the adoption of the Constitution, the culture and responsibility of the public services had to be radically reoriented. Article 309, while giving the power to the Legislature to 'regulate the recruitment and conditions of service of public servants, subjected to the exercise of this power to the various other provisions of the Constitution, like Article 14 which guarantees "equality before law and equal protection of laws", Article 15 which prohibits discrimination "against any citizen on grounds only of religion, race, caste, sex, place of birth or any of them" or Article 16 which guarantees "equality of opportunity for all citizens in matters relating to employment or appointment to any office under the State." This underlines the concern of the Constitution that even parliamentary powers to so exercised as not to compromise the Fundamental Rights of the citizens offering themselves for public service.

♦ The Indian Constitution views all Indian languages as equal: Article 350A of the Constitution directs the State to "provide adequate facilities for instructions in the mother tongue at the primary stage of education for children belonging to linguistic minority groups." This provision recognizes the fact that nothing is dearer to the man than his mother tongue. The language policy of our Constitution is reflective of the constitutional preference for all the Indian languages.

♦ The Indian Constitution seeks to instill feeling of nationhood among the citizens by fostering the value of sharing of resources: Article 297 lays down that "all lands, minerals and other things of value underlying the ocean within the territorial waters, or the continental shelf, or the exclusive economic zone of India shall vest in the Union and be held for the purpose of the Union." Only a few states lie on the sea coast, and if the resources of the sea were monopolized by them alone, the hinterland states would have the feeling of being left out. The vesting of these resources of the ocean in the Union, give the citizens of the hinterland States a feeling of ownership of those national resources. This helps in fostering the spirit of nationhood and a sense of belonging to one nation.

NATIONAL

■ The Supreme Court on 09 November settled the long pending Ayodhya land dispute case. In a unanimous decision, a five judge Constitution bench headed by Chief Justice of India Ranjan Gogoi ruled that the 2.77 acres of the disputed land will remain with the Central government and be handed over to a Trust for the construction of a temple. The bench also ruled that a suitable five-acre plot will be given to the Sunni Waqf Board for a mosque at a prominent place in the town. The apex court bench, also comprising Justices S A Bobde, D Y Chandrachud, Ashok Bhushan and S Abdul Nazeer, said possession of the disputed 2.77 acre land rights will be handed over to the deity 'Ram Lalla', one of the three litigants in the case. It said the trust should be formed within three months for the construction of the temple. The verdict was pronounced on 14 appeals filed in the apex court against the 2010 Allahabad High Court judgment. The High Court had delivered the verdict in four civil suits, that the 2.77-acre land in Ayodhya be partitioned equally among the three parties -- the Sunni Waqf Board, the Nirmohi Akhara and 'Ram Lalla'.

■ Prime Minister Narendra Modi on 09 November inaugurated Integrated Check Post (ICP) of Kartarpur Corridor at Dera Baba Nanak in Gurdaspur in Punjab. Addressing the gathering, the Prime Minister said, opening of Kartarpur Corridor and ICP would bring double happiness. He said, it will be easy to pay obeisance at Darbar Sahib Gurudwara after opening of the Kartarpur Corridor. Mr. Modi said, the inauguration of the ICP will facilitate Indian pilgrims to visit Gurudwara Kartarpur Sahib in Pakistan. Mr Modi said, Guru Nanak Dev is revered and an inspiration for all mankind. The Prime Minister also thanked his Pakistani counterpart Imran Khan for understanding India's sentiment. Prime Minister Modi flagged off the first batch of over 500 Indian pilgrims led by Akal Takht Jathedar Giani Harpreet Singh to Gurudwara Darbar Sahib through the corridor.

■ The Supreme Court has rejected a batch of review petitions seeking a court-monitored probe into the procurement of 36 Rafale fighter jets, saying the pleas were without merit. A three-judge bench also rejected the contention that there was a need for registration of FIR in connection with the deal. The pleas had sought re-examination of Apex Court's 14th December 2018 verdict which said there was no occasion to doubt the decision-making process. A batch of petitions, including those filed by former Union Ministers Yashwant Sinha and Arun Shourie, and lawyer Prashant Bhushan had sought a review, alleging that material facts were suppressed and a criminal investigation should be filed in the case.

■ In a landmark judgement, the Supreme Court has held that the office of the Chief Justice of India (CJI) is a public authority under the Right to Information (RTI) Act. The court, however, said that judicial independence has to be kept in mind while disclosing information in public interest. A five-judge Constitution bench headed by Chief Justice of India, Ranjan Gogoi dismissed the appeal filed by the Central Public Information Officer and the Secretary-General of the apex court against the Delhi High Court's 2010 judgment. The judgment, which has been concurred by Justices N V Ramana and D Y Chandrachud in separate verdicts, said that in some cases, judicial independence may demand openness and transparency by furnishing the information and in some cases, disclosure may not be needed.

■ A Parliamentary panel has expressed serious concern over the rising number of cancer patients in the country. It suggested setting up of a High-Level Steering Committee to work out modalities for rolling out of a Hub and Spoke Model in a time-bound manner. It urged the government to expand and upgrade cancer treatment infrastructure for affordable and quality care by enlarging the network of the Mumbai-based Tata Memorial Centre. The recommendation was made by the Department-related Standing Committee on Science and Technology, Environment, Forest and Climate Change. Committee also noted with concern the very high incidence of cancer in all North Eastern States. The Committee, headed by Jairam Ramesh, expressed concern, saying that over 68 per cent of cancer patients is dying in the country.

ECONOMY

■ The government has decided to import one lakh tonnes of onion to control price rise in the market. Food and Consumer Affairs Minister Ram Vilas Paswan said that the Metals and Minerals Trading Corporation of India (MMTC) has been asked to import onions and make the vegetable available for distribution for a month, between 15 November and 15 December. The NAFED has been directed to supply imported onions across the country.

■ Reserve Bank has increased the household income limits for borrowers of Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs) and microfinance institutions (MFIs) from 1 lakh to 1.25 lakh rupees. The move is aimed at strengthening credit to those at the bottom of the economic pyramid in rural areas. Similarly, the limit has been increased from 1.6 lakh for urban or semi-urban areas to 2 lakh rupees. RBI said in a circular that the limit has been increased after taking into consideration the important role played by microfinance institutions in delivering credit to those at the bottom of the economic pyramid and to enable them to play their assigned role in a growing economy.

■ In the last 5-6 years India has become the most favoured destination for energy investments. India received 286 US dollars billion FDI in the last 5 years. This is almost half of the total FDI in India in the last 20 years. Addressing the investors in Abu Dhabi at the roadshow organized by the Directorate General of Hydrocarbons (DGH) to promote India as a favorable investment destination in the oil and gas sector, Union Minister Dharmendra Pradhan said, India is among the top 10 FDI destinations in the world. He also said that India presently being the 3rd largest energy consumer in the world is poised to drive the global energy demand in the coming decades. The Minister said the oil and gas industry will continue to play a crucial role in meeting India's energy requirement despite system-wide energy transition measures. He also added that oil demand is projected to rise at the fastest pace in the world and is expected to reach 10 million barrels per day by 2030.

INTERNATIONAL

■ Indicating a further strain in China's economy, latest data show a sharp slow-down in consumer spending and factory production, while investment growth also hit a record low following the trade war with the US. Beijing is battling a tariffs row with the United States, as well as a weak global outlook. At the same time, it is trying to control a high level of debt at home. A National Bureau of Statistics official warned China was facing a "complex international economic situation" with downward pressure on the domestic economy. Analysts also warned of more headwinds for the world's number two economy. China expanded six per cent in the third quarter, its worst reading in almost three decades. Authorities have unveiled a series of measures to kickstart growth including major tax and rate cuts, and scrapping foreign investment restrictions in its stock market.

■ International Criminal Court Judges have approved a request from prosecutors to open an investigation into crimes committed against Myanmar's Rohingya Muslim minority. The Hague court has said that it has jurisdiction over crimes partially committed in Bangladesh, which is a member state of the court. Myanmar is not a member of the global court. It has been accused of committing widespread abuses in a campaign against the Rohingya. Myanmar's military began a counterinsurgency campaign against the Rohingya in August 2017 in response to an insurgent attack.

SPORTS

In 1947, the former State of Jammu and Kashmir had the following 14 districts - Kathua, Jammu, Udhampur, Reasi, Anantnag, Baramulla, Poonch, Mirpur, Muzaffarabad, Leh and Ladakh, Gilgit, Gilgit Wazarat, Chilhas and Tribal Territory.

By 2019, the state government of former Jammu and Kashmir had reorganized the areas of these 14 districts into 28 districts. The names of the new districts are as follows - Kupwara, Bandipur, Ganderbal, Srinagar, Budgam, Pulwama, Shupian, Kulgam, Rajouri, Ramban, Doda, Kishtivar, Samba and Kargil.

Out of these, Kargil district was carved out from the area of Leh and Ladakh district. The Leh district of the new Union Territory of Ladakh has been defined in the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganization (Removal of Difficulties) Second Order, 2019, issued by the President of India, to include the areas of the districts of Gilgit, Gilgit Wazarat, Chilhas and Tribal Territory of 1947, in addition to the remaining areas of Leh and Ladakh districts of 1947, after carving out the Kargil District.

On this basis, the maps have been prepared by Survey General of India depicting the new Union Territories of Jammu & Kashmir and Ladakh, as created on 31 October 2019.

While R K Mathur is the first Lieutenant Governor of the newly carved UT of Ladakh, Girish Chand

Murmu took over as first Lieutenant Governor of UT of Jammu & Kashmir. The creation of two new UTs of J&K and Ladakh follows a landmark decision by the centre to abrogate Article 370 and 35A of the constitution on 5th August this year. Under the provision, Union Territory of Jammu & Kashmir will have an elected assembly and Chief Minister on the lines of Puducherry. Ladakh will be a UT on the lines of Andaman and Nicobar, directly governed by Lieutenant Governor. The Legislative Council of the state of J&K has been abolished. The J&K assembly will be reconstituted after delimitation of seats. Ladakh will have two Hill councils directly under LG. The High Court of Jammu and Kashmir will be common for both Ladakh and Jammu and Kashmir. Ladakh shall come under the ambit of the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) for the recruitment of officers. Jammu and Kashmir will continue to have the Public Service Commission (PSC) as the recruiting agency for the gazetted services. Government employees of the new union territories will start getting salaries and other benefits according to the recommendations of the seventh Pay Commission.
